SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

1. On the morning of 29 January MAO Tse-tung left by special train for Manchouli. He was accompanied by WU Jue-jung as far as Harbin. MAO conferred with KIM Il-sung at Harbin.
2. Hasty preparations for the trip were made after MAO had three protracted long distance telephone calls on the evening of 27 January. On the day of departure the party, consisting of MAO, three secretaries, a doctor, a nurse, identified as Miss CH'EN, and one attendant, left Tongshan by car and boarded the train at the Western Gate.*
3. Because of heavy military traffic on the Peiping-Mukden Railroad a pilot train with guards preceded the special train from Tangku to Mukden.

25X1A [REDACTED] Comment. Persistent reports from Chinese Nationalist and other 25X1X [REDACTED] that MAO Tse-tung went to Moscow in January returning after 25X1A the 27th. See [REDACTED], however, 25X1A that MAO was too ill, late in January to take any trips.

25X1A * [REDACTED] Comment. Tongshan is probably Tangshan, a hot spring resort west of Peiping; MAO, however, is known to make his headquarters at Hsiangshan, which is closer to Peiping. He and his party probably boarded the train at Hsi Chih Men Station, Peiping.
